▶ RESOURCE MANAGEMENT

Easy resource management in projects with Jira

Manage team resources in a transparent and flexible way without the numerous problems, that occur using Excel tables.

Jira's resource management allows for an easy planning, management and analysis of capacities and absences within the context of your projects. With Jira-based resource management, you ensure an efficient use of your employees. You keep track of how much and at what time which employees work on which tasks.

Through Jira's resource management, you improve your capacity planning across projects and avoid overworking or underworking single employees. Thanks to the continuous display of deviations from your estimates and results, you can immediately counteract to apparent bottlenecks.
